

The Eagles Have Arrived in Squamish! New Bird Watching Tours Available

Located 45 minutes north of Vancouver on the Sea to Sky Highway – considered to be one of the most scenic drives in British Columbia – Squamish is home to one of the largest populations of bald eagles in North America in the winter. Visitors can view them up close on a rafting Eagle Float, and now on walking and ebike tours.

Join Squamish Rafting to gently float down the Cheakamus River for a unique view of the bald eagles gathering, spawning wild salmon, and local wildlife. New this year, Cheekye Ranch offers a 1.5 hr morning nature walk along the river and into the forest to watch eagles soar and learn more about this spectacular species. And, discover the natural beauty and diverse ecosystem of Squamish on a high-end electric mountain bike with an eagle viewing tour with Blazing Saddles Adventures.

Custom and private tours available with all operators. These tours are suitable for adults of all ages (families also welcome) and are especially memorable for anyone interested in photography, wildlife or bird watching. Bring your binoculars and cameras and enjoy a half day in nature while listening to the eagles call!

Photo credit: Squamish Rafting

Submitted by: Vancouver, Coast & Mountains Region

Contact: Heather McGillivray, Travel Trade Representative, heather.mcgillivray@destinationbc.ca